Notes

Reminder that the first row (A-1 through V-1) can hold only one ash box.
 St. John's newest ash boxes measure 9.0 x 3 7/8 x 3.5 inches. The niche measurements are 4.5" high x 9" wide x 12" long.
 Specs given for non-St.John's urns: 8.75 x 5.75 x 3.5 inches.
 None of the boxes will hold all of a large persons cremains -- we offer as a solution for the excess cremains, spreading them in the North garden of the church.
 Purchase: $750/niche & one box, $150/second box.
 12/08/2018 Updated to show 24 new urns received from Frost Cabinets.

=====

Interment is used to describe an individual's final resting place.
 Interred is a euphemism for "buried." Interment is the burial of a body in a grave or tomb. Typically this is a full body burial, often accompanied by funeral rites.

Inurnment: To put in an urn: inurned the ashes of the deceased.

You may see the words used together. For example: The man's inurned remains were later interred at the cemetery.

An internment camp is a prison used during times of war.
